

Bobbi Jo Reed: A Story of Transformation

Bobbi Jo Reed knows the darkness of addiction firsthand. She spent years battling substance use, living on the streets of Kansas City, and feeling lost in a cycle of hopelessness. But through determination, faith, and the support of others, Bobbi Jo found recovery and a renewed purpose. She got clean, rebuilt her life, and vowed to help others facing the same struggles. What began with a single house and a big dream has grown into Healing House KC, a national model for peer-based addiction recovery.

Twenty-two years later, Healing House has helped transform thousands of lives. With the highest level of clinical accreditation, a peer-based and faith-based approach, and a commitment to greeting every individual with "Welcome Home," Healing House creates a family environment where real change happens every day.

Together, we can share hope, spark change, and welcome more people into the transformative work of Healing House.

Addiction is a devastating reality affecting countless individuals, families, and communities in America and here in Kansas City. Healing House KC, a faith-based nonprofit, has led the charge in addiction recovery, offering compassionate, community-driven support to help individuals transform their lives.

Founded by Bobbi Jo Reed, it has become the largest addiction recovery program in the Kansas City area, providing housing, clinical services, and a network of resources for those in recovery.

Healing House is more than a program—it's a story of hope, redemption, and the power of faith.
