Paving the Way to Healing

At Healing House, every participant is on a unique recovery journey. For some, the road is winding—full of unexpected turns. For others, there are steep hills to climb or roadblocks to navigate. But no one travels this path alone. It takes a community to keep the road to recovery open, supported, and strong.

Introducing

Recovery Road Builders

Our monthly givers are more than donors—they are part of a deeply appreciated group of committed companions walking alongside those in recovery. Their consistent support helps to clear the debris, lay down new pavement, and build bridges where there were once gaps.

We call this group Recovery Road Builders—plural—because it takes many hearts, hands, and steady steps to keep this vital path accessible. Together, you're not just supporting a program—you're helping people rebuild their lives, one mile at a time.

When you become part of the Recovery Road Builders, you're not just making a donation—you're standing alongside men and women who are rebuilding their lives from substance abuse disorder. Your monthly gift brings stability, hope, and healing to individuals and families across Kansas City.
